

Extract from the Sparham Deanery & District Magazine recording Daisy Burton's marriage to Alfred Morris Mole in November 1913, and the presentation of a silver teapot.

REEPHAM-WITH-KERDISTONE.

MARRIAGE.

Nov. 25—Alfred Morris Mole to Daisy Mildred Burton.

BURIALS.

Dec. 15—John Page, aged 67 years.

„ 20—Mary Ann Wilkin, aged 80 years.

May we begin by wishing all our readers a very Happy New Year. Once again, by the providence of God, we have received from out of Eternity another New Year, unstained by sin, unclouded by evil—a New Year with its hands full of gifts and blessings which may be ours, if we will. Let us regard this New Year as a small section of time cut out from the boundless Eternity, as an angel of God laden with spiritual gifts. Let us wrestle with it day by day, as Jacob did with the angel at the Fords of Jabbok, and say, “I will not let thee go except thou bless me.” Thus best, and perhaps thus alone, can this New Year be made for each one of us a priceless opportunity of blessing.

A very pleasant little function took place at the Rectory after the Choir practice on Wednesday, Dec. 10, when a presentation was made to Mrs. Mole, formerly Miss Burton, who had been a teacher in the Sunday School and a member of the Choir for several years. In order to show their appreciation, the members of the Choir and teachers of the Sunday School had subscribed and bought a handsome silver-plated teapot. The Rector, Canon Wilkinson, in making the presentation, referred in a felicitous little speech to the bride's connection with our Church and School, and expressed the good wishes of all present for her future happiness. Both Mr. and Mrs. Mole expressed their heartfelt thanks for such a tangible token of their friends' good-will.

The members of the Working Party, who meet